

Jeff Rufus Byrd - Climate Change

This should happen during the hottest part of the day.
Begin with a glass of chipped ice.
As you walk, slowly eat the ice.
Do not chew, let it melt in your mouth.
You make take as much time as you like.
Consume all of the ice.
Finish the piece by drinking any amount of water that remains in the glass.

Photo Frans van Lent

Reports:

Jello:

I actually don't like chipped ice. I started with a full glass, very slowly, in a summery way. The ice melted slowly in my mouth and, bite after bite, it also melted in my glass. After 15 minutes, on my way back halfway down the street, there was still a little water left at the bottom, which I drank on the spot.